

Key:

 - stretch goals

Red - throwaway values to test, but will probably need tweaking

Bold - defined someplace else in the doc

CORE SYSTEMS

Day and Night Cycle/Timeline: Gameplay will operate on a “day and night” cycle that lasts for [5] days, tasking players to keep everything functioning during that time.

- Day: Day time is the time for the player to manage the bnb whether that's handling NPC tasks, building/upgrading rooms, or hiring employees.
- Night: Night time is the Roguelike System and is on a [5] minute timer. The player would have to survive to the end of the timer and then go back to the day cycle. The end of the night could have a small cutscene perhaps of the cryptids running away or poofing to show the transition.

Roguelike System: The roguelike system will be in the form of a Vampire Survivors minigame during the night time of the game taking place in the hotel that has been built by the player.

- Strategy: Players will need to utilize their Employees during the night shift to protect them as well as the hotel and the guests against the hordes of cryptids at night. Employees will be “armed” and surround the player and be pushed and guided to attack the cryptids.
- Timed: Each night will be on a timer that will need to be completed in order to “survive” the night. Each night’s wave will be progressively larger than the previous nights (if night one has three enemies, night two would have five).
- Rewards: Each wave will result in xp boosts to the Employees that have survived. As well as any other reward drops that may randomly happen.
- UI: The player as well as Employees will have their health displayed as a bar that follows them below their sprite.

MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

Employee: NPCs the player will be able to utilize in order to keep guests safe and happy during their stay.

- HP: How many hit points the Employee has. XP multiplied by 2.
- XP: This stat is how many experience points they may have. Successfully completing the night cycle will lead to an increase in XP for each Employee. Employees with higher XP will typically ask for more compensation in their wage.
- Wage: How much it costs per day to keep this employee on the roster. This is a daily payment that automatically comes out of the player’s currency. If the player fails to pay their employee [two] days in a row the employee will quit, taking their skills elsewhere.
- Unlocking: Players will unlock Employees by receiving information from NPCs that approach their desk with information about the area. These NPCs will ask the player to complete certain tasks for them (which will be in the ledger), upon completing the player will be able to access the and hire the Employee in that menu.

- Hiring: In the Employee menu, unlocked Employees will be shown with their HP, XP, and wage on a card, as well as a button to hire them. Hiring them automatically takes their wage out of the player's bank and makes them available for the night time. There should be some indication on their card that shows they've been hired.

Rooms: The rooms occupying the B&B generate the income the player receives at the top of every day cycle. These rooms are automatically populated with the # of guests allowed. Players automatically start with one basic bedroom and a tavern.

- Types of Rooms: Basic bedroom, suite, tavern, and entertainment.
- Purchasing: Players will be able to buy a room from a menu of different types of rooms they can purchase. This will look like an invoice that shows how much one type of each room costs, how many they are buying, and a button to go through that transaction. Purchasing the rooms leads to an automatic uptick in the B&B population. Bottom of that menu page will have a button that can take you to the upgrades of those rooms.
- Upgrading: Rooms that have been purchased by the player will be stored in the upgrades menu. It will have a similar look to the purchasing page but will have all of the rooms purchased by the player (if they bought two bedrooms and a tavern, the menu will have 3 cards, two rooms and a tavern). It will also have the room's level and how much it will cost to upgrade it. Bottom of that menu page will have a button that can take you back to the purchasing page.
- Occupation: Rooms are automatically occupied allowing the player to automatically get money from them once it's been purchased/upgraded. At the beginning of each day the player will get income from every room at the B&B that's already been purchased.

Tasks: Tasks will be given to the player by NPCs that walk up to the desk. Players will go through a short narrative section with these NPCs and will lead to them giving you a task. These tasks will be found in the ledger and upon completion will be removed. It is not required for players to do these tasks but completing them will unlock potential Employees.